6 that he had gotten the handgun that day because his best friend had just been killed and he wanted
7 to protect himself. He said that he used to be a Sureno.

8 a felony violation of Penal Code section 12031, subdivision (a)(1), admitted the special allegation
9 pursuant to Penal Code section 12031, subdivision (a)(2)(F), and pled no contest to a felony

15 to be in a stolen vehicle or one that contains firearms; not to wear items or get tattoos associated 16 with gang affiliation, and 271 days' incarceration.

17 14. (a) On or about December 16, 2010, at about 3:22 a.m., Respondent and another 18 person were driving in Respondent's vehicle on King Street in King City, California. They were 19 stopped by the King City police for not having a front license plate. Respondent said it was his 20 vehicle and that the officers could search it if they wanted. During the search, they found an 21 Altoids container with two baggies of marijuana, two bindles of methamphetamine, and one 22 bindle of cocaine in an ashtray behind the center console. Respondent said that he was unaware 23 of the drugs and blamed the other person in the vehicle; that person also denied knowledge of the 24 drugs. Both were arrested. When Respondent was booked, he asked to be housed with the 25 Surenos in jail.

26 (b) Respondent was charged with a felony violation of Health and Safety Code 27 section 11352, subdivision (a) (transportation of a controlled substance – cocaine), with an 28 enhancement pursuant to Penal Code section 186.22, subdivision (b)(1), that he committed the

1 crime for the Sureno criminal street gang with the specific intent to promote criminal conduct by 2 gang members. He was also charged with a felony violation of Health and Safety Code section 3 11379, subdivision (a) (transportation of a controlled substance – methamphetamine), with an 4 enhancement pursuant to Penal Code section 186.22, subdivision (b)(1). Finally, he was charged 5 with a special allegation that he at the time of the offenses he was released from custody on bail
6 within the meaning of Penal Code section 12022.1.

7 (c) On or about May 19, 2011, in the Superior Court of California, Monterey County,
8 in People v. Armando Fabian, case number SS102762A, Respondent pled no contest to a felony
9 violation of Health and Safety Code section 11352, subdivision (a), and admitted the special 10 allegation pursuant to Penal Code section 12022.1. All other counts, allegations, and 11 enhancements were dismissed. Imposition of sentence was suspended, and Respondent was 12 placed on formal probation for three years, which included, but was not limited to, the following 13 terms: not to use or possess drugs, or associate with those who do; not be present in gang-14 gathering areas; not to associate with gang members or drug users; not to be in a stolen vehicle or 15 one that contains firearms; register as a narcotics offender; not to wear items or get tattoos 16 associated with gang affiliation, and 90 days' incarceration.

17 15. (a) On or about December 27, 2010, at about 10:59 p.m., Respondent's ex-girlfriend
18 called the police claiming that Respondent threatened to kill her, is possibly armed, and is a 19 Sureno gang member. When officers arrived at the location, they found Respondent and his 20 friend, who both fled when the officers arrived. Both suspects were stopped a short time later.

21 (b) The ex-girlfriend, who wanted to remain anonymous, said that Respondent had 22 begun to again associate with the Sureno street gang. She did not want their child in common to 23 be part of that lifestyle. She told the officers that when she told Respondent she wanted to leave 24 with their child, he became angry. He called a friend whom she knows as a Sureno gang member 25 and told him that he wanted her "blasted." She had seen Respondent with a handgun the day 26 before and was fearful for her life.

27 (c) Respondent's brother and mother were at the scene. Both claimed that 28 Respondent's ex-girlfriend has a history of calling the police and providing false information

1 against Respondent. That day, she had been upset because Respondent had been text messaging
2 another girl. Respondent's brother, however, also alluded to Respondent's gang membership.
3 Moreover, Respondent had admitted his Sureno association to one of the responding officers 4 during a previous encounter.

5 (d) Respondent said that his argument with his ex-girlfriend was because she was 6 jealous. He did not want her to take their child to her house because the child was sick and had 7 just had a bath. She said she was going to call the police. Respondent said he got very angry and 8 told his mother that he felt like hurting her. He also admitted saying that he was going to "blast 9 her." He said that he had called his friend who was a Sureno gang member earlier in the day
10 before the argument, but added that neither he nor any of his friends who are Sureno gang 11 members would hurt her.

12 (e) Respondent was charged with a felony violation of Penal Code section 422
13 (criminal threats). He also was charged with a felony violation of Penal Code section 166,
14 subdivision (a)(4) (disobeying a court order), with an enhancement pursuant to Penal Code
15 section 186.22, subdivision (d), that he committed the crime for the Sureno criminal street gang
16 with the specific intent to promote criminal conduct by gang members. Finally, he was charged 17 with two special allegations that he at the time of the offenses he was released from custody on 18 bail on two separate cases within the meaning of Penal Code section 12022.1.

19 (f) On or about June 23, 2011, in the Superior Court of California, Monterey County, 20 in People v. Armando Fabian, case number SS102834A, the case was dismissed on the motion of
